Were more likely to be obese, especially among those treated four or more times. Experts say antibiotics may affect the composition of microbes in the intestines ... Leaving children more vulnerable to weight gain. Believe it or not the holidays are right around the corner. If you plan to travel by air, farecompare says now is the time to plan your vacation. According to fare- compare, thanksgiving is the one time when you can break the "don't shop too early" rule. That's because beginning in october, each day you delay purchasing your flight ticket, you can expect to add five dollars. So if you consider buying a ticket today, but hold off till the end of october, you could end up paying on average an extra 150 dollars per ticket. And don't forget about our daily business lunch every weekday, we'll discuss jobs, the economy and consumer issues on nbc10 news at noon. Weather 2:30 Unsettled weather is moving in today, so we'll see cloudy skies and a chance of scattered showers today and tomorrow with highs in the mid 60s. As an area of low pressure slides this way from the Great Lakes, we'll continue to see a rain chance through Wednesday and Thursday morning, along with mostly cloudy skies. election day now five weeks away. And tonight, candidates for massachusetts governor faced off in their first televised debate. We'll have highlights in just a minute. But first -- take a look at a new poll released by the boston herald and suffolk university showing numbers even. Democrat martha coakley with 44- percent, compared to republican charle baker's 43-percent. The poll of 500 likely voters, revealed eight- percent undecided. And the three independent candidates had a combined four percent. And tonight - the candidates met in western massachusetts.. To take on issues including casinos and education. Our political reporter alison king joins us. Alison - not the most contentious debate we've seen. Alison: no - I would actually call this more of a forum than a debate. There was very little interaction between the candidates - each took their turn and their 90 seconds to make their positions known on issues like economic development, medical marijuano and... Casinos. Alison: charlie baker got some applause for that line. But it was one of the only times of the evening that a candidate engaged another candidate. Martha coakley mentioned charlie baker a couple of times, including how they differ on the referendum on the gas tax - charlie supports repeal... But charlie did not take the bait... Switching our focus to maine, where the governor's race is also neck-and-neck. Governor paul lepage says he'll participate in the remaining debates. Lepage considered holding out claiming t-v ads from an outside group falsley attacked him. A new poll in maine's race shows his democratic challenger mike michaud (me--show) leading 40 to 38 percent. While the university of new hampshire poll shows independent candidate eliot cutler with 12 percent support. More than 480 likely voters were surveyed - with a 4- point-4 percent margin of error. DRIVER, WHO KILLED A MAN ON THE SOUTH SHORE AND: UNIFORM CHANGES for some public school kids! But first @ 5:30 A Massachusetts woman, wanted on kidnapping charges, is in a Baltimore jail cell tonight. She may be returned at some point soon, and her alleged accomplice remains at large! And Dan's back with more on that. DAN. Stephanie Walker of Lawrence is one of two people wanted for a kidnapping at gunpoint last week. The kidnapping attempt ended in Taunton. LTIMORE - The 28 year old Walker was arrested at a motel Saturday afternoon. Bristol County DA Sam Sutter says Walker and Adynew Alves of Boston forced a woman at gunpoint into the trunk of a compact car last Tuesday. It's believed that kidnapping occurred in or around Boston. Prosecutors say the victim was driven south on Route 24. The woman was somehow able to escape from the trunk of the moving car, as they drove into Taunton. The suspects' car was later found abandoned in Taunton the next morning. Walker was arraigned today in Maryland of being a fugitive from justice and was held without bail. Walker has a bail review hearing tomorrow. She will face kidnapping and assault and battery charges if she's returned to Massachusetts. At last report, Alves remains on the run. Live in the newsroom DJ NBC10 news Where's the money Whitey? Maybe his girlfriend knows! Boston Mobster, Whitey Bulger's girlfriend, Catherine Greig, will called before a grand jury looking into where his fortune's hidden! She's doing an 8 year sentence in federal prison, and right now she's held at the federal lockup in Central Falls. The FEDS pulled 800-thousand dollars out of their California apartment when they were arrested. Prosecutors think there are millions more. The Boston Globe says Greig denies knowing where it's hidden. In Decision '14 politics, two new polls are out on the Massachusetts Governor's race. And they both say there's a razor thin difference between the two major candidates. Today's Boston Herald - Suffolk University poll has Democrat Martha Coakley and Republican Charlie Baker in a virtual tie. Coakley leads 44 to 43 percent... with 8 percent undecided. Out in Springfield, a poll by Western New England University has the numbers reversed: Baker leads 44 to 43 percent. That poll shows 7 percent of voters undecided. The child advocacy group 'Kids Count' released new numbers today. They're unchanged from last year. 16 percent of kindergarten students in Rhode Island were absent 18 days or more last year. ADD 19 percent of low income children were chronically absent in grades K- through 3. ADD And it's a concern, because KIDS COUNT sees a link to lower achievement levels in later grades. There is NO LONGER one school uniform policy in Woonsocket. It's now three separate policies... One for each of the education levels. The Woonsocket School Committee has adopted a revised school uniform policy. The voluntary school uniform policy has been abolished at the high school. add It has been scaled back at the middle school level. Students must still wear maroon, grey or black tops, but can wear any color skirts or slacks. add But the school uniform policy remains in full force for elementary school students. add The Woonsocket Call reports it's the first modification of the school uniform policy since its adoption four years ago. Rhode Islanders: you may be paying more to get rid of your trash. The state is considering a Pay as You Throw bag fee. Each household would be charged about 10 dollars a month, to dispose of trash at the Central Landfill. Rhode Island cities and towns currently pay 32 dollars a ton to dump the refuse. Supporters say this would pay for landfill and recycling operations. And any surplus would be returned to the local communities. The Providence Journal is reporting Resource Recovery says it needs to make this change to pay for operations come 2018. There could soon be one how tight the race is. Boston city councilors decide to delay a vote, on a proposal to boost their pay by nearly 30 percent. And president obama says the nation's intelligence agencies under- estimated the threat posed by "isis"

- but is he passing off some responsibility? Our jim braude joins us, to look at that. Just over five weeks until election day - and tonight, the candidates for governor in massachusetts will square off in their first televised debate. It'll take place in springfield - our political reporter alison king will be watching and will have a wrap-up, tonight on the only news at nine. Meantime, a new boston herald/suffolk university poll shows the race is even.

It shows democrat martha coakley with 44 percent support, charlie baker at 43 percent. The poll of 500 likely voters shows eight percent are undecided. And the three independent candidates evan falchuk, jeff mccormick and scott lively with a combined total of four percent support. Meantime - charlie baker is opposing parts of a ballot question that would require most employers in the state to offer paid sick time to their workers. Today, baker offered an alternative plan to question four. And our business editor peter howe takes a look at both the ballot question - and baker's plan. Peter? Thanks, mike, and the big picture -- estimates are twenty five to thirty percent of workers in massachusetts do not get earned paid sick time ... A paid day off if you or family members are sick and the figure's over half of workers earning under thirty five thousand dollars a year. Whether november's question four is the best way to fix that -- that's what's now being debated now while you've seen a strong response from the business being shortsighted same countries that now support confronted license Paulson’s role for confining Hamas they evidently the man roster that houses and Hamas are branches of the shame Paul views from there any other also wants to wear onion with Islamic extremists around the world and he says the say that Iran does not practice terrorism is like saying direct you’d never played shortstop for the Yankee that review is so poor 33 traffic and weather together there’s a deal with New England all wheel drive traffic on the race by Jane Pratt he lied to them and so on but she bank’s Diane well the of coronavirus for we will not the place to be for the afternoon commute Norte towns across from one 20 all the way up in the Bill were with an accident involving a tractor trailer this is just before one 29 I should be underway shortly but we are still made in the doings emergency car will repair subsequently so are these delays should stick around for a while
