months until the November elections - new numbers show an Iowa Senate race is closer than ever. In a USA Today/Suffolk University poll, Democrat Bruce Braley and Republican Joni Ernst are locked in a dead heat. If the election were held today, the numbers show both Braley and Ernst would each get 48 percent of the vote. The two are squaring off for the seat being left by retiring Senator Tom Harkin. That race has all eyes on Iowa as the G-O-P needs this seat to gain a majority in Washington. But the campaign for governor isn't quite as close, numbers show incumbent Terry Branstad has a 13-point lead over Democrat Jack Hatch. Don't forget -- CBS 2 connects with you - call CBS 2 if you see news happen. 800 222 KGAN.

morning - authorities in Coggon are investigating what caused a bridge to catch fire late last night. Just after 8, several departments were called to a railroad bridge over Buffalo Creek near Third Street. The heavily traveled bridge was engulfed in flames when crews got there. Trucks from Coggon, Prairieburg and Central City battled the blaze and had it under control within an hour and a half. Steve Morrissey, who shot this video from his home, says he ran to the bridge as soon as he saw the massive flames. 21:25:39:13 - I looked out my bedroom window and I saw thick black smoke rolling in the sky and I saw these huge flames shooting up. I told my wife you better look outside the bridge is on fire. By the time we got out there it was rolling pretty good. Goodfire crews say no one was hurt in the fire. Right now, bridge is closed to trains as inspectors look at the damage. Meanwhile, an hour earlier, Cedar Rapids fire fighters were battling a blaze of their own. Just after seven - a police officer was on his usual rounds when he heard an alarm coming from a business on second Avenue Southeast. When he got closer to the noise, he saw fire coming out of a window at Knapp Warden. The officer called in the fire department and they were able to put out the blaze - no one was hurt. The department says the second floor and attic were damaged but right now, we don't know what the repair costs will be. They say a faulty outlet needs this seat to gain a majority in Washington. But the campaign for governor isn’t quite as close, numbers show.

>> We have a new front-runner for the Republican presidential nomination. Of Iowa Republicans favor Mitt Romney for the next Republican presidential nomination, according to a new Suffolk University "USA Today" poll. He has a 26-point lead over the second-place finisher in that poll, Mike Huckabee, who is the choice of 8.8% of Iowa Republicans, followed by Chris Christie at 6.5%, Rick Santorum at 5.9%, Lance Rand Paul and Ted Cruz tied at 5.2%. The much-touted Jeb Bush and recently indicted Rick Perry are tied at 4.7%. And Marco Rubio is finishing out the field, commanding 2.3% of current Republican voter support in Iowa. So the big question for Mitt Romney tonight is, is he ready for more of this? >> I have to ask you, are you calling Mitt Romney a liar? >> Yes. >> Mitt Romney, can he beat Obama? >> No, he can't. >> He is the worst Republican in the country. >> I'm speaking, I'm speaking -- >> The way the rules work here is I get 60 seconds and you get 30 seconds to respond. Suffolk University/USA TODAY Poll Shows Iowa Race for U.S. Senate Dead Even
Targeted News Service | 08/27/2014

Suffolk University issued the following news release:

Republican Joni Ernst and Democrat Bruce Braley are deadlocked in the race for U.S. Senate, according to a Suffolk University/USA TODAY poll of likely general-election voters in Iowa. Ernst and Braley were tied at 40 percent, followed by Independent Party candidate Rick Stewart at 2 percent, and, with 1 percent each, Bob Quast of the Bob Quast for Term Limits party, Libertarian Douglas Butzier and independent Ruth Smith. Fifteen percent
