Parr has more. Kbts three's julie dan nicholson is with texarkana american legion post 25-58. On friday morning -- he noticed two of their outside cameras were not recording. That's when checked outside. And they were gone, the cameras, the motion light .. then i looked at the flag pole and they had cut the flag rope off. The surveillance video shows the alleged thief at the flag pole. This the third time someone has come after their american and p-o-w flag. Nicholson says after the last time -- they decided to label the flags with their contact information -- and install cameras. Last time they stole them they threw them down in the parking lot because they had american legion wrote on the side of them. Nicholson says the crime is upsetting -- but not surprising. He thinks whoever tried to steal the flags were just trying to make an easy buck. They can resell them. It's 120 dollars for a set of flags. While the american legion is glad they still have their flags this time -- they're now faced will replacing their camera equipment. The flags were attached to the pole with zip ties - - but in the process of trying to steal them -- nicholson say the thief cut the rope -- and tore down the cameras and motion light. It's a financial burden to us because we work off of donations to help veterans. Nicholson says the flags are flown 24 hours a day in honor of veterans -- and they want whoever is responsible for the vandalism to be caught. Julie parr, kbts three news. Kbts 3's sara machi has been following the story and brings you the latest now. Sara... Let's talk about who's at the defense table. Sure... Her primary attorney wanted off the case... Citing health reasons. The judge granted that withdrawl... And allowed ross owen to substitute in. But the prosecution has a couple of problems with this decision. They say tarika wilson killed infant rizcheir muskelly june last year and the case is ready for trial in february. In fact... It's already been delayed once. New defense attorney Owen alluded in court to the fact that he was going to ask for a delay...and may even replace his co-counsel. Owen says he has only looked at news reports on the case... And hasn't even begun to look through the case files. "Capital cases are the highest form of punishment our system of justice can inflict on someone, and it's unreasonable to try to rush this process. This is not a traffic ticket. This is not felony theft. The state wants to take somebody's life," prosecutors also raised questions about Owen's ability to even try a death penalty case... Since he voluntarily gave up what's called a death-certification two years ago. This was news to his client... Tarika Wilson. You could read the surprise on her face. On that point gerry... Owen says there's no reason to doubt his abilities. He voluntarily took a step back from capital murder work... But has been approved by the board to take this case. All sides are due back in court November seventh. Thanks, Sara. Keep us updated. Tarika Wilson was originally supposed to start trial one week from today. Her trial is now scheduled for February... But will likely be delayed again. You can read more about the case so far... On our website... KTBS dot com. Also in the court.. More delays involving Shreveport fire captain Derrick Harris. He was scheduled to appear this morning to face terrorism charges. Prosecutors say Harris -- a former captain -- threatened the lives of Shreveport fire employees online. But the station eight employee's case was pushed back. We'll bring you the latest developments when the case continues on December 1st. Just last week... Harris pleaded guilty on a prostitution charge and cruelty to the infirm charges. On the crime beat... A Keithville man is behind bars accused of molesting a child. Caddo sheriff's have arrested Melvin Logue for molesting a juvenile 20 years ago. Logue -- who is now 69 -- is accused of improperly touching a young girl who was around four or five years old at the time. Logue was booked into the Caddo correctional center after he turned himself in on a warrant. Bowie county commissioners appointed a temporary justice of the peace for precinct seven in Hooks. Commissioners unanimously voted for Precinct Two Justice of the Peace Stephen Young to fill the post left empty by Patrick James. The state commission suspended James without pay last week until further notice. Young says business will continue as usual -- but all work will be done out of the Precinct 2 office in New Boston. I have no doubt that the staff I now have, as well as, the clerk that is coming over from Hooks will be able to handle all of the work that comes in. James -- along with six others are named in a federal indictment on felony charges of conspiring to defraud the government and theft in connection with Red River Army Depot. Poll Shows Landrieu & Cassidy Statistically Tied for Top 2 Spots in Louisiana 'Jungle Primary' for U.S. Senate

Targeted News Service | 10/27/2014

Suffolk University issued the following news release:

Incumbent Democrat Mary Landrieu (36 percent) is in the fight of her political life as she leads Republican challengers Bill Cassidy (35 percent) and Rob Maness (11 percent) in the Louisiana race for U.S. Senate, according to a Suffolk University/USA TODAY poll of likely voters. Five other candidates listed on the Louisiana ballot are each polling at 1 percent or less, while 14 percent were undecided and 1 percent refused a response.

Louisiana holds a "jungle primary" for statewide offices, whereby candidates of all parties vie to win one of the top spots, regardless of whether the finalists are from the same or opposing political parties. If a candidate wins 50 percent or more, the election is over; however, if no candidate reaches 50 percent, then a "runoff" takes place within a month. If necessary, the Louisiana runoff election would take place on Dec. 6.

"Senator Mary Landrieu benefits from seven others splitting the anti-incumbency vote," said David Paleologos, director of the Suffolk University Political Research Center in Boston. "But in a one-on-one scenario, she is vulnerable, not only because of her own disapproval ratings, but also because likely voters are venting frustration towards the president and his policies."

Landrieu's job disapproval was 54 percent, slightly better than President Obama's 60 percent disapproval rating. Overall, 62 percent of voters said that Obamacare was generally bad for Louisiana. Among those still undecided in the November election, Landrieu has a 60 percent unfavorable rating.

The poll is part of a midterm elections partnership between Suffolk University and USA TODAY that includes polling and analysis of key U.S. Senate and other statewide races and key issues. The poll was conducted in association with the Daily Advertiser and WWL-TV, a CBS affiliate located in New Orleans.

In a potential runoff between Cassidy and Landrieu, the Republican opens up a 7-point lead, due to the high Landrieu negatives among primary voters who support Maness (89 percent).

Fifty-nine percent of voters said they did not trust the federal government to handle the Ebola crisis. Respondents said that health care and jobs are the issues that most concern them.

Methodology

The survey was conducted through random-digit dial of landline and cell phones. All respondents said that they are very likely to vote or had already voted in the Nov. 4 election. The field of 500 likely general-election voters was conducted Thursday, Oct. 23, through Sunday, Oct. 26. The margin of error is +/-4.4 percent at a 95 percent level of confidence. Results are posted on the Suffolk University Political Research Center website. For more information, contact David Paleologos at 781-290-9310.
